

Magenta Principles

The Magenta Principles is an umbrella phrase that refers to a philosophy and an approach to teaching based firmly upon the premise that learning should be both exciting and engaging. More specifically, the phrase represents a pedagogy undermined by an unshakeable belief that:

- Learning is the consequence of thinking
- Language is central to thinking
- Learning is central to thinking

We would like to invite two colleagues from each BSLC school to attend a three day training course with Mike Hughes to learn about his Magenta Principles in detail and consider how they can be developed and embedded across your school to improve teaching and learning.

Course dates:

Wednesday 4th December 2019

Tuesday 25th February 2020

Wednesday 1st April 2020

Time: 9.00am – 3.00pm

Venue:

Elms Bank College Hub

(St Monica's Entrance)

Prestwich

M25 1JH

Places can be booked by email
(dent.c@elmsbank.co.uk)

Mike Hughes

Mike Hughes is a well-known and highly acclaimed education trainer/author.

A former secondary headteacher, he is currently working freelance and over a period of many years has developed a deserved reputation as an inspirational and innovative trainer/facilitator and is widely regarded as a leader in the field of learning.

He is best known as the author of hugely influential books such as 'And The Main Thing is.....Learning', 'Tweak to Transform' and 'Closing the Learning Gap'.

